Camp → Amnascand

20 min taxi ride to trail head - paved road bordered by walls of vegetation, mostly fuchsias - absolutely gorgeous w/ some blackberries mixed in, sunny day and fairly easy walk area is dotted w/ prehistoric stones ^{found} but we saw few palm crosses "pine plantation" w/ half of the trees freshly harvested and then across river and along cliffs overlooking rich beach and strand. Because it was such a beautiful day luck was packed and we decided to pass it up and keep walking through borrens (ditches with walls of vegetation) up over a small hill then straight downhill road walk into Amascand. One of the most impressive standing stones was in a field on the way it.

Road seemed interminable at this point and led straight to the center of town and South Pole Inn home of Tom Crean, Antarctic explorer. Had veg soup and waited for ride to Dingle Gate Hostel. When he finally arrived we found out it is 1.5 mi outside of Annascaul and no possibility of a ride in the AM - ditched Dingle Gate and stayed at Annascaul B & B - V nice proprietor and room - entire place to ourselves

Dinner @ South Pole Inn cupboard next to fireplace makes antarctic storm sounds when opened - tones of memorabilia and photos / illustrations of Tom Cream - all seem to be based on ~~seen~~ one photo 8/18 N side last night and not up for walking none of us had much sleep. After bfast 9 from B & B drove us to Dingle. N & I hung out in Dingle - window shoppers and bought her a beret Russ took ~~the~~ eco tour boat trip. Another lovely day and a shame we weren't walking but still a nice pleasant interesting place to hang out. Lunch in a Gaelic bookstore full of nationalist lit. Dinner @ Smokehouse and Irish Trad music at Moriarity's pub - excellent duo of women. Manager of Hildont hostel v nice and v talkative - from

Iowa City! Room v. grim so he gave us a discount great place to stay anyway

8/19 9:10 AM Start to Duncun ^{light} rain started right after we set out. Ran gear on we headed out country roads to Ventry. Rain started harder while I dashed into the shop @ Ventry

for some supplies

started peltng and v windy for walk on beach. - pretty miserable and N's ramfly flew off we had to back track to retrieve it ~~at~~ but fortunately found it Rain incredible but we managed to stay dry inside all our rain gear

Pressed on along beaches and up over lovely bluff w/ sheep rain set up a tent but no visibility of what must have been a beautiful view. A huddled ~~bag~~ lunch next to a wall and came to value sheltered walks w/ hedge walls aboutt half way along bluff paralleling the Ocean it cleared up and was spectacular - saw doganes, beehive huts rounded corner to Sea Head which was amazing - even more gorgeous views of the sunshine. ~~It~~ Stopped in Sea Head Cafe & gift store for berry crumble, pie and cappuccino/tea especially delicious after very rainy walk. Took the coast road toward Dungeness before cutting off over another headland Ran into 6 students from Univ of Puget Sound - nice group headed to same hostel.

Hunted to Great Blasket Center, arrived @ 5:30 w/ last admission @ 5:15.
Begged my way in and ran around for 5 min - looks wonderful - natural hist, antro & hist/culture

V treacherous road walking along main road - fortunately w/bad weather less traffic - kept ^{crossing} of the area. Street ^{to stay} ^{visible} road walk up to Duncun Hostel. Dia Laundry

walked to restaurant for dinner & took expensive cab ride home to hostel.

Bathrooms down the hall but showers were heavenly.

8/20 Same 9:10 start on same route over headlamps toward restaurant & main road. Attempted to get food in Louis Mulcahy pub but they were not yet open. Amazing that food really wasn't avail in Dungeness at the hostel so I got some basics like pasta & sauce. Out to coast for exquisite walk along bluffs

and then back to road run through fields and more road walking to hear

Only saw fort from a distance because we were pretty tired. Saw a v funny bike race - mostly kids & some kids w/ dads riding across the sand.

befriended by a collie who was more interested in playing fetch w/ stick than eating. Forky beach walk while tide was out then rocky shore w/beautiful purple & green rocks more bluffs & beach walking. Intended to find food in Munteau but never found it instead ended up in pub in Ballydavid pier for some (only one litt) tea & coffee. Fortified, headed out along beautiful cliff walk toward Ballyclavid proper - some confusion about where we were going to find our hostel, entered w/ group and were amazed by notion of 2 Ballyclavids.

Ended up @ in and they put us in the apartment because groups had already booked the rooms in the hostel since sitting room, kitchen, ^{bedroom} etc.

~~8/20~~ Owner drove us to dinner (@ samar pull/restaurant) we selected restaurant and when bus service was not operating called for a taxi to take us back.

8/21 Owner let us in shop early and we found out no taxis to trail head no possibility that she would take us, after some dithering we decided to hitchhike because it was starting to rain and our hostel location added 4 km to the hike. Stopped a sheep trucker who said he could take us after checking on his sheep. — turns out they were the noisy ones who kept me up all night until I broke out the earplugs. He had just separated the young from mothers yesterday and they must have been protesting all night.

Rund N rode in back w/ sheep dog that they were instructed not to touch and I rode up front & made conversation with shepherd - v interesting and I'm sure we overpaid because my had a $20 bill Weather rolled in as we began our ascent 650 m to summit of pass over v wet, muddy, eroded fields that seemed to get worse the higher we climbed. We went right into the fog w/ almost no visibility and had to ask N to wait for us so she could keep us in ~~safe~~ sight. v steep ascent, v cold v foggy and a little nightmarish - many false summits and weather constantly threatening to get worse (at least it never poured like the Dingle → Dungen day)

v hard to walk because ground was so boggy and ~~to~~ needed to walk on rushes & stones to Stay drier. Summit had stile & Organ Stone - v windy, cold foggy. Visibility got even ~~worse~~ worse and we needed to hunt for markers. at one point Ran stayed w/ one marker N went to look and I kept them both in sight from the middle. Way down was treacherous at best v muddy rocky eroded & steep. Quick lunch in a somewhat sheltered area near large rocks then sliding down through mud - would not have made it w/out poles. Finally made it to a road and below the fog bank Saw gyps again and worked out a shortcut that would bypass Brandon. Road walking along a fairly busy road then smaller road. once we figured the way.

Stopped in at a craft place w/ friendly dog Kir, stained glass - N bought a pair of earrings.

A guy gave Russ a beer. Seemed like very long walk to Craghmore along road and then field waddy to cut down to town. Way came out right @ Mt. Brandon Hotel.

Place is basic but comfortable.

Dinner in pub next door and promise of a bakery tomorrow Am. Nobody wants to go back up an Brandon so may take it easy tomorrow.

Reunited w/ city bag!

$22 Nobody up for Mt. Brandon slog after yesterday's adventures. Slept in, visited the bakery/shop for fresh scones then decided to walk to Brandon. Took side road to small beach w/ rocks & decent tidepooling. N & I scrambled over all the rocks & looked in every nook & cranny. Took Dingle Way into Brandon & ate in a pub near the pier nice beachwalking & v nice clean weather. Back to Cloghane by 4:30 to organize stuff & have afternoon tea. Stopped in to see Kiv the doggie on way back. Pub dinner next door then into room on road side of hotel for music. Turned out to be locals led by a woman named Maura who said she once toured from DC @ the Dubliner. Put local talent show part sky day w/ some poetry recitation and stories about old days/emigration from Cloghane in 1940s on Ship "Washington" Served tea & scones & over by 10 - some sort of temperance thing

8/23 up and disappointed by shops bakery opening late & not ready w/ fresh baked goods. 9:15 taxi to airport took almost exactly 1 hr. Short wait for a car to be turned in then on the road S to Killarney

One stop at Ladies view for view and coffee then gorgons drive thru park & along coast to Kenmare. Charming town sandwich lunch & walked around window shopping & bought a Guinness poster for Jeremy. Drove further down coast to Glenties & Bannagh then cut across inland to Kinsale. Long day in the car but managed to find B&B in Sandycove. Definitely Bed breakfast & conversation but lovely setting and comfortable room. Into Kinsale for dinner & nice meal @ Jim Edwards

8/24 enormous ~~fest~~ and then into Kinsale to window shop and poke around. Lovely small farmer's market & bought yarn from 18th wood for Gena Lu. & pin for N. Drove to Cobh and arrived @ Heritage Center in tandem w/ tour bus. HC was a lovely museum sophisticated and v well done w/ enough info on Titanic (last port before voyage & ship building) Wissitania (sank off Sandy Cove) and Irish immigration

Woman in Cork then shot N to Ennis. Both Cork & Limerick big cities w/ lots of traffic trucks & buses on perimeter roads. Found Grey Gables in Ennis w/out too much trouble & just a little drugg agent. Arrived by 4:30 & dashed out for shopping before stores closed @ 6:00. N was delighted by Dunnes which looked like Irish Target & she bought a floral jumpsuit for 15 £, picked up tea, chocolate fruit & cruised several pubs for dinner choices. Ate late ~ 8:00 so that we could stay for music @ M_____ good dinner & fabulous song music. Bed late ~ 11:00 after organizing everything for Am

8/25 up early - finished packing & left for airport ~ 7:35 snacky breakfast & more coffee/scones @ airport. A relief to get rid of rental car unscathed. Spurred on v nice sweater in airport shop. Cleared customs & fought to NY on time
